

"I stayed with my foster parents for two years. It was odd for me to be in a house, actually. Going up and down stairs was really strange – just the idea of going up and down stairs. I was so used to shelters and apartment buildings."